

Shanghai Municipal Police.

Central Police

November 6,

1922.

REPORT ON Arrival of steamer from Vladivostock.

Made by D. I. Sullivan

Forwarded by

J. J. Stevens R. J.

Sir,

The S.S. Lorestan, agents Messrs. L. V. Lang & Co., arrived in Shanghai from Vladivostock via Pusan and Tsingtao at 9 a.m. November 5 and docked at the South Manchuria Railway Co.'s Whangpoo Wharf. The vessel was met by D. I's. Cruikshank and Sullivan, D. S. Schmidt, D. Gs. Korolkoff, and Repas, and P. G. C. Papp. She had on board 28 first class, 16 second class and 150 third class passengers. Amongst the passengers were General Soulevich, former Vladivostock Commandant, General Yushobenko, Military Engineer, General Poolcosky, Chairman of the Union of ex-Military Officers at Vladivostock, and ten members of the board of the above Union, Colonel Novgorodtzeff, Assistant to the Chief of Vladivostock Militia, Colonel Baron Unterberger, Military Engineer, son of the former Governor General of Primorie, General Dvinogosky of General Diederichs Staff, Colonel Kuzminsky, formerly of General Rozanoff's staff Reverend Prozoroff, priest of the Vladivostock Cathedral. The Captain of the S. S. "Lorestan" states that the passengers are nearly all well provided with money and that they have considerable quantities of gold roubles with them. They are all better class people and many of them have been employed in the various Government offices in Vladivostock. When the ship left Vladivostock she had on board 400 passengers, 166 of whom left the ship at Pusan to proceed by rail to Harbin, and 40 at Tsingtao. The ship sailed from Vladivostock on October 22 and most of the passengers boarded the vessel in a state of panic three days before she sailed. The Captain states that he objected

Shanghai Municipal Police.

Station.

192

REPORT ON

Made by

Forwarded by

[Handwritten signature]
to taking so many passengers as it was far and away above the number for which he had adequate accommodation [but he states that the British Consul at Harbin told him that he must take the passengers and that he, the Consul, would guarantee that they would be allowed to land at Shanghai] There was no one amongst the passengers who was known criminally to any of the Police officers present.

I am, Sir,
Your Obedient Servant,

S. Sullivan
D. I.

[Handwritten signature]

K. 6/11

[Handwritten mark]

Shanghai Municipal Police.

4829

10/11/22.

CENTRAL POLICE

Station.

November 7,

1922.

REPORT ON Arrival of steamer from Vladivostock.

Made by D. I. Sullivan

Forwarded by J. H. Guiney

Sir,

The S. S. "Hsinptigan" agents messrs Wallen & Co, 1B Hankow Road, arrived in Shanghai on the night of Nov. 5 from Vladivostock via Chefoo and moored at the Tatung Wharf Chinese Bund. When the vessel left Vladivostock she had on board 91 Russian passengers including men, women, and children. Twenty passengers left the ship at Chefoo and 71 came to Shanghai. The passengers are all better class people and being apparently in possession of ample funds are not likely to become destitute at least for some considerable time. The steamer is being taken off the Vladivostock run.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. H. Sullivan.

D. I.

D. C. I.